ABOLITIONIST AND RETENTIONIST COUNTRIES

More than two thirds of the world’s countries have abolished the death penalty in law or practice.1

• 105 countriesii have abolished the death penalty for all crimes;
• 6 countriesii have abolished the death penalty for all crimes except extraordinary crimes such as those committed in times of war;
• 30 countriesiv can be considered abolitionist in practice in that they have not executed anyone during the last 10 years and are believed to have a policy or established practice of not carrying out executions.
• Therefore, 141 countries have abolished the death penalty in law or in practice.
• 57 countries and territories still uphold the death penalty and use this punishment;
• 25 countriesv carried out executions in 2015;
• In 2015, the top five executioners were China, Iran, Pakistan, Saudi Arabia, and the United States of America.

PROGRESS MADE TOWARDS WORLD ABOLITION OF THE DEATH PENALTY

6 countries on all continents abolished the death penalty for all crimes in 2015 and 2016: Fiji, Guinea, Madagascar, Mongolia, Republic of Congo and Suriname. 169 of the 193 member states of the UN were execution-free in 2015.

In the Americas, for the seventh consecutive year, the USA was the only nation to carry out executions in 2015. However, fewer executions were recorded and fewer states executed.

In Europe, no state carried out executions in 2015. In Sub-Saharan Africa, 43 executions were recorded in four countries compared to 46 executions in three countries in 2014.

DEATH SENTENCES AND EXECUTIONS

In 2015 at least 1,634 people (excluding China) were executed in 25 countries and at least 1,998 people were sentenced to death in 61 countries. These figures only reflect cases of which Amnesty International was aware and the actual number is certainly higher.

Asia
Amnesty International has not given any estimates on the number or executions in China. Official national statistics on the application of capital punishment remain a state secret. It is believed that thousands of executions took place in 2015. Pakistan executed 326 people in 2015. Indonesia executed 14 people, Taiwan 6 people, Singapore 4 people, Japan 3 people and Amnesty has not given any estimates for Malaysia, North Korea and Viet Nam.

[2] METHODS OF EXECUTION

The following methods have been used:

• beheading (Saudi Arabia),
• hanging (Afghanistan, Bangladesh, Egypt, India, Iran, Iraq, Japan, Jordan, Malaysia, Pakistan, Singapore, South Sudan, Sudan),
- lethal injection (China, USA, Viet Nam)
- shooting (Chad, China, Indonesia, North Korea, Saudi Arabia, Somalia, Taiwan, United Arab Emirates, Yemen).

There were no reports of judicial executions carried out by stoning in 2015.

[5] USE OF THE DEATH PENALTY AGAINST JUVENILE OFFENDERS

International human rights treaties and customary international law forbid the use of capital punishment for all those under 18 at the time of the crime of which they are accused. This ban is inscribed in the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, the American Convention on Human Rights and the Convention on the Rights of the Child.

The countries which still uphold capital punishment for some crimes are all party to at least one of these treaties which expressly forbid the execution of juvenile offenders.

However, a small number of countries continue to execute juvenile offenders. At least 5 people were executed in Pakistan and 4 people were executed in Iran for crimes they allegedly committed when they were under 18 years of age in 2015. Other juvenile offenders were sentenced to death in 2015 in Bangladesh, Iran, Maldives and Pakistan and others are also believed to be under a death sentence in Iran, Nigeria, Papua New Guinea and Saudi Arabia.

[6] INTERNATIONAL INSTRUMENTS SUPPORTING ABOLITION

Progress towards abolition has been made through the adoption of international treaties, whereby States pledge not to use capital punishment:

- Second Optional Protocol to the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, aiming at the abolition of the death penalty and has been ratified by 81 States. 3 other countries have signed the Protocol, thereby signalling their intention to become party to this instrument at a later date;
- Protocol to the American Convention on Human Rights on the abolition of the death penalty, has been ratified by 13 States on the American continent;
- Protocol No. 6 to the Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms (European Human Rights Convention) on the abolition of the death penalty, which has been ratified by 46 European States and signed by one other;
- Protocol No. 13 to the European Human Rights Convention concerning the abolition of the death penalty in all circumstances, which has been ratified by 44 European States and signed by one other.

The objective of Protocol No. 6 to the European Human Rights Convention is the abolition of the death penalty in peace time whereas Protocol No. 13 provides for the total abolition of the death penalty in all circumstances.

The two other protocols provide for the total abolition of capital punishment but gives States the possibility, if they so wish, to use it exceptionally in times of war.
